

NOMINATION FORM

CATTLE AUSTRALIA REGIONAL CONSULTATIVE COMMITTEE

About the Regional Consultative Committee

Cattle Australia has a Regional Consultative Committee (RCC), consisting of one chairperson (appointed by the Board), one Individual Member or Associate Member per sub-region (of which there are 15 covering the whole of Australia), and a number of representatives equal to the number of State Farming Organisations (SFO) that are Members (currently 7), with each representative being appointed by the respective SFO.

Role of the RCC

The role of the RCC is to advise on issues affecting the grass-fed cattle industry via engagement and consultation with cattle levy payers at a grass roots level. RCC representatives will

- play a key role in shaping the future of the cattle industry, ensuring the voices of Australian cattle producers are heard during critical decision-making processes
- be part of a powerful voice representing Australian cattle producers and beef lovers
- be a part of the only legislated organisation dedicated to representing grass-fed cattle producers
- build on the work of previous leaders within Cattle Australia, expanding beyond policy to develop strategy around advocacy, consultation of cattle producers at a grass-roots level, and engagement of broader society.

Appointment term

The RCC Representatives will have a two-year term.

View the Cattle Australia Constitution here and the By-laws here to learn more about the RCC.

Nominations

In this election, there are seven regions up for election - sub-regions 1-3 in NSW; sub-regions 4 and 5 in Victoria; sub-region 6 in Tasmania; and sub-region 11 in the Northern Territory.

Election to the Cattle Australia RCC represents a great opportunity to apply your knowledge and skills to support the grass-fed cattle industry's growth and prosperity.

The schedule for the election process is as follows:

Date	Activity
Monday 1 September	Nominations open
Monday 29 September (11pm AEST)	Nominations close
Wednesday 8 October (5pm AEDT)	Voting period opens
Wednesday 29 October (9am AEDT)	Voting period closes
Wednesday 12 November	Cattle Australia Annual General Meeting; election results to be announced

Nominee eligibility

To be eligible for election as a representative of the RCC, you must:

- be an Individual Member or Associate Member of Cattle Australia
- be allocated to the sub-region in respect of which you are seeking election.

Nominee selection criteria

Nominees for RCC must have the following competencies or experience:

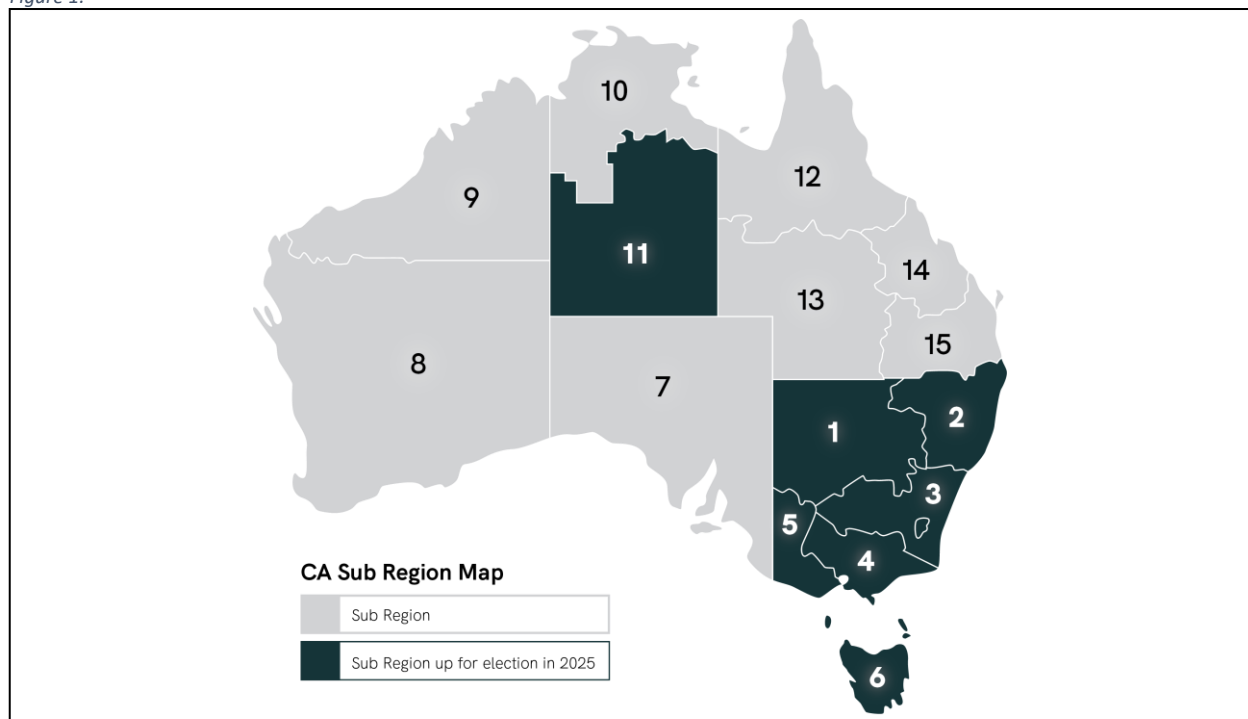

- Experience in the grass-fed cattle industry.
- An active community member in their sub-region.
- Respected reputation.
- A drive to help lead the way.

Nomination process

Any two Individual Members, each of whom are allocated to the same Sub-Region as the proposed Sub-Regional representative, may nominate an Individual Member or Associate Member who is also allocated to that Sub-Region for election. The seven Sub-Regions up for election this year are outlined below in Figure 1.

For a full list of postcodes that are contained in each subregion, visit www.cattleaustralia.com.au/rcc

Figure 1.

For example: Rosie Peters and Joy Lucas are Individual Members of Cattle Australia, both residing in Sub-Region 1. Rosie and Joy both agree that Lily Thompson, a fellow producer in Sub-Region 1, would be a great representative for Sub-Region 1 on the Regional Consultative Committee. Rosie and Joy approach Lily to see if she would agree to be nominated.*

Lily consents as she meets the eligibility, so the three of them fill out and sign the nomination form. The completed form is then submitted to Cattle Australia by the set nomination deadline. Lily is now a candidate in the Cattle Australia RCC election for Sub-Region 1.

Nominee applications

Nominee applications should include the following:

- A completed 'Regional Consultative Committee - Nomination Form' (see p4-6) with nominee details and the details of two nominators as outlined above.
- A profile photo of the nominee.

All nominees will be required to submit the nomination form by 11pm AEST on Monday 29 September 2025 to info@cattleaustralia.com.au.

Where multiple nominations are received for an Elected RCC position, nominations will be put to members in that specific Sub-Region for voting.

Please note that the information you provide in your nomination form will be used during the nomination and voting process.

For more information, please contact Cattle Australia at info@cattleaustralia.com.au or call 1300 653 038.
